A REGRET.

- I met the maiden that I loved
- One evening on the lea; And save a peeping star or two, All by ourselves were we. The silken moths flew round about,
- And softly moved the air, But softer on my shoulder fell The flutter of her hair. And so we walked an hour or more;
- How swiftly the minutes sped! And then we parted—well-n-day, What might I not have said?
- I met the malden that I loved
- I met the malden that I loved
  One sweet May-morn again,
  And save the happy Sabbath bells,
  No sound was in the lane.
  But when I looked her in the face
  So fast the binshes flew,
  No wild-rose blossom in the Spring
  Had ever such a hue.
  And so we wandered toward the church:
- How swiftly the minutes sped ! And then we parted—well-a-day. What might I not have said ?
- I met the maiden that I loved
- Once more in after years, And as she passed me in the street I scarce could look for tears. For by her side a stranger walked, And she might be his bride—
- And she might be his bruteBut oh! she smiled not as of yore,
  Our darling village pride.
  Then most I thought of one still eve,
  Of one May-morn how sped,
  And how we parted—well-a-day,
  What might I not have said?

blister, says Beecher, draws sharper than interest does. Of all Industries none is comparable to that of interest. It works all day and TO THE LADIES! night, in fair weather and foul. It has no sound in its footsteps, but travels fast. It gnaws at a man's substance with invisible teeth. It binds industry with its film, as a fly Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, is bound in a spider's web. Debts roll a man over and over, binding hand and foot, and letting him hang upon the fatal mesh until long-legged interest devours him. There is but one thing on a farm like it, and that is the Canada thistle, which swarms new plants every time you break its roots, whose blossoms are olific, and every flower the father of a million seeds. Every leaf is an awl, every branch a spear, and every plant like a platoon of bayonets, and a field of them like an armed host. The whole plant is a torment and vegetable curse. And yet a farmer had better make his bed of Canada thistles than to attempt to be at ease upon interest.

MEDICAL QUALITIES OF PUMPKINS. A prominent physician of New York City speaking of the properties of pumpkins, says that in his travels in Syria he found pumpkin seeds almost universally eaten by the people for their supposed medical qualities. Not because they are diuretic; but as an antidote against animalcuke, which invest the bowels. They are sold in the streets as nuts and apples are here. It is said to be a medical fact that persons have been cured of tape-worm by the use of pumpkin seeds. The outer skin being removed, the seeds are bruised in a morter into an oily, pasty mass. It is swallowed by the patient after fasting some hours, and it takes the place of chyle in the stomach, and the tape-worm lets go its hold on the membrane and becomes gorged with this substance, and, in some measure, probably torpid. Then a large dose of castor oil is administered, and the worms are unable to renew their hold.

At Oxford some twenty years ago a tutor in one of the colleges limped in his walk. Stopping one day last ammer at a railway station he was accosted by a well-known politician who, recognizing him, asked him if he was not the Chaplain at the college at such a time. The doctor re-plied that he was. "I was there," said the interrogator, "and I knew you by your limp." "Well," said the doctor, "it seems that my limping made more impression on you than my preaching." "Ah, doctor," was the reply, with ready wit, "it is the highest compliment we can pay a minister to say that he is known by his walk rather than by his conversation.

Snow .- Thus far in the season our mountains have not received their wonted supply of snow, which is so necessary to the working of the mines. Although, there is time enough yet for an abundance of snow to fall; the mountains of the Territory are at this time comparatively bare. A great deal of snow usually falls in the month of February, and it is likely that the coming month will be no exception to the general rule, but it is anxiously prayed for, for upon the mining interests rest our principle hopes of business stimulus and profitable trade. - Boise News.

Tomatoes owe not a little of their consumption to the notion that they are healthy. Latterly this has been questioned. Dr. Dio Lewis pro-nounces them unhealthy as an article of food. Occasionally and in a very small quantity, the cooked vege-tables may be taken without notable injury. But raw tomatoes should be banished from the table. They give heartburn and other indications of digestive derangement. Speaking of eating, the doctor denounces the dyspeptic American fashion of taking drinks at meals, whether wine, water or tea, or coffee or soupsabove all, ice water. The gastric juice is enfeebled by such dilution, and digestlon is retarded. Some take supper with impunity, but to most people it is the nightmare meal.

BEWARE OF GUM BOOTS .- We are informed by reliable gentlemen from Owyhee, that an unfortunate man is lying in a pitable condition at the Snake river ferry, consequent upon wearing gum boots. The green lining of this class of boots is said to Biblos. be dyed by poisonous stuffs, which. when brought in contact with the flesh, slowly and insidiously imparts under portion of the legs of the unfortunate man referred to, immediately above and below the knee, has turned black, and is sloughing off the bones. - Boise News.

The Montreal (Canada) Gazette, writing of Bismarck's abrogation of Prussia's agreement to respect French vessels carrying no contra-band cargoes, says: The utter shamelessness of the manner in which Bismarck violates all the engagements which he had entered into with a view to protecting himself in case of defeat when the war THE INDUSTRY OF INTEREST. -No first commenced, is almost too disgraceful even for Bismarck himself."
